

Richard Powers'

Vintage Waltz Ball & Weekend

Friday Nov 3 through Sunday Nov 5, 2006

led by Richard Powers and Angela Amarillas of Stanford University

at Split Tree Farm

in the northwest Georgia mountains two hours north of Atlanta near Chattanooga, TN

A Review of Two Centuries of Waltzing

Total immersion in waltzing and other vintage traveling dances in which you can turn, travel and fly with a partner in your arms.

Some dances are done in place; some travel around the room. In some dances the man sends his partner this way and that; in others he accompanies her, on a journey around the dance floor. This Split Tree weekend we will look at the extended family of vintage traveling dances since the early 1800s in Vienna. These will include various kinds of Waltz, Polka, Tango, Galop, Mazurka, Redowa and more." -- R. Powers emphasizing partnering for improvisation classes for both advanced and beginning dancers

,.-:!?!.-,._,-:!?!.-,._,-:!?!.-,._,-:!?!.-,._,-

Mail & electronic registration/payment now open; tuition discount ends Aug.30.

More information, detailed schedule, signup, updates:
<http://www.splittree.org/ww06.htm>

Email Sid Hetzler at sid@splittree.org for general info; tel: 706.539.2485.

For program info email Richard Powers at vintage@leland.stanford.org;
Web link: <http://dance.stanford.edu>